

RELATIVE PRONOUNS

1. WHO for persons:

1. Fall	who	The man who lives next door is Mr Lincoln.
2. Fall	whose	This is the man whose dog attacked a girl.
with prepositions	to / for / with ... whom	The man to whom you spoke is Mike's teacher. The man who you spoke to is Mike's teacher.
4. Fall	who / whom	The man whom we met is Mr Smith. The man who we met is Mr Smith.

2. WHICH for animals and things

3. THAT must be used

- after: all, everything, everybody, somebody, something, nobody, much, little ...
- after superlatives: the first, the last, the best, the most interesting ...
- for persons and things or animals at the same time

Fill in the missing relative pronouns:

1. The woman we helped yesterday is Nancy's mother.
2. This is the poor little boy parents died in a car accident.
3. The dog you fed last week comes for his sausage every day.
4. Don't touch the books are on the table. They are father's.
5. The name of the dog you gave the bone is Rex.
6. The keys you have been looking are in your car.
The keys you have been looking are in your car.
7. You should tell the police about the man was in your neighbour's garden.
8. The old man and his dog we meet in the park every day have not been there this morning.
9. Tell her everything she wants to know.
10. That's the girl mother came to see the teacher.

Answer the following questions:

1. Do you know the country hosts the Football World Championship?
2. Do you know wrote the Tom Turbo books?
3. Do you know in city you can admire the Statue of Liberty?
4. Do you know footballer was born on Madeira?
5. Do you know friends are Ron and Hermine?
6. Do you know was the first man on the moon?

RELATIVE PRONOUNS Lösung

1. WHO for persons:

1. Fall	who	The man who lives next door is Mr Lincoln.
2. Fall	whose	This is the man whose dog attacked a girl.
with prepositions	to / for / with ... whom	The man to whom you spoke is Mike's teacher. The man who you spoke to is Mike's teacher.
4. Fall	who / whom	The man whom we met is Mr Smith. The man who we met is Mr Smith.

2. WHICH for animals and things

3. THAT must be used

- after: all, everything, everybody, somebody, something, nobody, much, little ...
- after superlatives: the first, the last, the best, the most interesting ...
- for persons and things or animals at the same time

Fill in the missing relative pronouns:

1. The woman who we helped yesterday is Nancy's mother.
2. This is the poor little boy whose parents died in a car accident.
3. The dog which you fed last week comes for his sausage every day.
4. Don't touch the books which are on the table. They are father's.
5. The name of the dog which you gave the bone is Rex.
6. The keys for which you have been looking are in your car.
The keys which you have been looking for are in your car.
7. You should tell the police about the man who was in your neighbour's garden.
8. The old man and his dog that we meet in the park every day have not been there this morning.
9. Tell her everything that she wants to know.
10. That's the girl whose mother came to see the teacher.

Answer the following questions:

1. Do you know the country which hosts the Football World Championship?
2. Do you know who wrote the Tom Turbo books?
3. Do you know in which city you can admire the Statue of Liberty?
4. Do you know which footballer was born on Madeira?
5. Do you know whose friends are Ron and Hermine?
6. Do you know who was the first man on the moon?